pH Balancing Bubble Free Cleansing Gel

Instead of using cleansing cream or oil, this product alone is enough for convenient cleansing, and I love that it doesn't leave my skin feeling tight. It's low irritant, so it suits my dry and sensitive skin well I've been using it for a long time.

Skin Type Dry Skin lemon*

I used cleansing water to check for any residue, but the cotton pad was completely clean! It leaves a squeaky clean finish without any dryness. I love how gentle yet effective it is, with great cleansing power and hydration. I'll definitely repurchase it at full price when I run out.

Skin Type Combination Skin su

When my skin feels sensitive, cleansing can feel burdensome, but this removes makeup gently without irritation I love it!

Skin Type Sensitive Skin sj*

Using a cleansing foam often strips away necessary oils, which was a concern for me. But this lightweight, translucent cleansing gel helps maintain my skin's moisture balance while cleansing effectively.

Point 1

100% Bubble Free, 0% Irritation! for Sensitive Skin

Why does Acwell insist on being bubble-free?

Even the friction from bubbles can irritate your skin...

I heard bubbles can mess up your skin's oil-water balance too

Bubble friction can even damage your skin barrier!

Sensitive skin? You should protect it with a bubble-free cleansing gel...

The endless cycle of irritation
Acwell Cleansing Gel has the solution!

How to Use Bubble-Free Cleansing Gel

Step 1 & 2 All-in-One Cleansing

STEP 01

Apply an appropriate amount (about the size of a 50-cent coin)
to dry face and spread evenly

STEP 02

Gently massage over the entire face

STEP 03

Rinse thoroughly with lukewarm water

STEP 04

If wearing a makeup,
repeat the above steps on a damp
face to dissolve makeup
and impurities before rinsing clean

* For waterproof products,
use a dedicated remover
